

Fun Turns to Danger

Last Sunday, our class visited the Kadoorie Farm and Botanic Garden in Tai Po. First, my classmates and I took a bus and went to the farm. Then I saw a guide. He was going to take us to visit the farm.

Then we went to the places but I did not know where the places were. I saw some beautiful trees and there were many fruits on them. I asked the guide, 'What is this?' 'It's a lemon tree.' answered the guide.

When we walked out the area, we saw many pigs, ducks and monkeys. I fed the animals but the guide said, 'You cannot use your own food to feed the animals.' Then my classmates laughed at me.

Then my classmate, Sam attacked and touched the beehive. Soon the bees flew over my hands. We escaped then.

In the end, we shouted for help. Then a strange man came to help us. The strange man used fire to burn the bees. I felt relieved.
