

When My Mother was in Primary 4

My mother is thirty-five years old now. She talked about her school life when she was in Primary 4.

When my mother was in nine years old, nobody had computers or air-conditioners in her school. There was a music room and a playground in her school. Without air-conditioning, she felt hot in summer.

Nobody played electronic games in her class. Everybody played hopscotch, hide-and-seek and chess. My mother liked skipping because it was fun.

My mother could go to school by herself. She went to school on foot. She didn't have a tutor because hiring a tutor was expensive.
