

Last week, my parents gave me $200 as my birthday present. I said, 'Thank you, mum and dad.' Dad said, ' You can buy anything you like.' I was happy.

On, Sunday, mum went to a toy shop with me. I bought a robot. This robot cost one hundred dollars. So I still had one hundred dollars left.

At night, my parents and I had dinner. When we were watching TV, we learned that there was an earthquake in Chile. I felt shocked. Then, my mum said, 'It was a bad news.' At this moment, I suggested that we donated some money to the charity organization to help the victims. Mum agreed my suggestion.

Altogether, we donated one thousand dollars to help the victims.

(by 6B Chan Lok Hei, Elvis)